

KAI'S BEDROOM

A transformation of cow stable into bedroom for an elderly
man

ARCHITECTURAL PROJECT 2025_ the renovation finished 2026

On a small farm in Nordjylland, Denmark, the need for a downstairs bedroom arose, when Kai, the 82 year old man living on the farm with his wife fell and broke his hip. The cow stable adjoining the living quarters in the main house has been transformed into Kai's new bedroom. The main property of the traditonal domed stable ceiling and raw brick walls have been restored keeping a direct link to the original function, while new floor to ceiling windows and wooden floor frame the new function of the room.

Snapshots from construction process